Summary: An assignment from English turns into a digipoem!
:::shudder:::

A Friend's Plea

A Friend's Plea by Cybra

A/N: My first digi-poem! Yay! I wrote this during class as an assignment with a bunch of vocabulary words. I'll write what those mean at the bottom since they're from Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet".

Disclaimer: :::checks all her ownership thingies::: Nope. They're still not mine. But I'll have them SOMEDAY!!! BWAHAHAHAHA!!! :::is carted off by men in white coats::: But I don't want to go!!!

I see the boy sitting aloof and alone with his laptop there, The small boy with the fiery red hair. With the others, he manages to fare, But as he peruses what is writ on the screen, His face is filled with loneliness, a lamentable scene.

He prefers work with all its rigor, Eager to learn truths with his curiosity's hunger meager. His mind is hungry for new information, But his secret eats away at him like an inexorable contagion. Still he conducts his thoughts on any problem.

My heart clenches painfully as he continues into the night. That look is still on his face, I abhor the sight. My friend, let me help you in this unaccustomed place. Let me wrap my arms comfortingly around you when you sadly stare off into space. And let me, most importantly, wipe those tears off your face.

A/N: Relatively short and sweet. I think we can all guess who that was about. :)

Vocabulary words (yeah, I told you I'd define them!)

- * aloof - apart, away
- * fare - to get along
- * peruse - to read
- * writ - written
- * lamentable - sad, sorrowful
- * rigor - strictness
- * meager - starved
- * inexorable - unstoppable
- * contagion - disease
- * conduct - guide, usher
- * abhor - to hate
- * unaccustomed - strange

Now, for the fun part! Rating time!!! 1 - Your talent was stolen by Vedamon! 2 - That was worse than Demidevimon! 3 - Wasn't too bad, but wasn't too good either. 4 - Was pretty good, but needs to digivolve a little bit so it's a little better. 5 - Your writing is pretty good. 6 - Woah! Joe might want to borrow your notes from English! 7 - Even Mimi couldn't complain about this! 8 - Tai must be slipping you info or something! 9 - Who are you? A professional writer who just happens to like Digimon?! 10 - Prodigious!
